Keeping track of Misbehavior

| Student Name: ____________________________ |

| Step 1: Identify unacceptable behavior, State acceptable behavior to student |
| Step 2: Use classroom management techniques (change seat, isolate, etc.) |
| Step 3: Call home using MisStar |
| Step 4: Send a copy of referral to student’s advisor |
| Step 5: Case conference with Grade Level Team |
| Step 6: Referred to Culture Team for Detention (must have this log filled out) |
| Step 7: Conference with culture team, staff, parent, and student |
| Step 8: Short Term Suspension Long Term Suspension (must have log of all steps taken) |
Warnings

A warning requires that the culture agent pull a student out of class for a brief conversation and delivers a referral slip for students to return with a parent signature. Teachers can choose to take additional measures.

Detention

Detentions will be held on Wednesdays. Students fill out a “Think Sheet” while in detention.

Suspension

Suspensions will require a readmission conference, accompanied by a parent. A suspension requires that the culture agent pull a student out of class for a brief conversation and delivers a referral slip for students to return on the day of the readmission conference.
Follow-Up

Scheduling a restorative session. set a restorative session during advisory (student-to-student) or outside of class time (student-to-teacher).

Issuing a behavior progress plan. require students to check in daily with all of their teachers to help advisors or culture agent keep track of a student’s progress and reassess consequences (see form below).

Suggesting the student for enrollment in a partner program. contact partner programs that provide services that students need (see list below).
The theory: If we consistently track minor and major behavior problems (using referrals), we will quickly identify and respond to students who need positive behavior intervention and support.

Recording behavior data helps us move from anecdotal to evidence-based discussions about students.
